

THE MORNING APPEAL.

FRIDAY..... JANUARY 29

TREMBATH'S TALK.

The Storey Assemblyman Nominates Jones in the House.

The following is the speech made Tuesday in the House by Hugh Trembath of Storey in nominating the senator:

"Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Assembly—I rise to nominate our present Senator, a gentleman whose twenty-four years of eminent service in the Senate of the United States has won golden opinions from all sorts of people. For his fidelity to the special interests of the State, the purple toga has been placed upon his shoulders for four successive terms.

"True, he has always been returned to the Senate as a Republican by the Republican party of the State. It was his pride to be a member of that great political organization. He had seen it use its mighty strength to break the chains of bondage. He had watched it struggling through the wilderness of reconstruction; had been an active participant in all its great achievements and had shared the disappointments of its reverses. A sagacious adviser in its councils, a zealous supporter of all its measures of reform. But when that great political organization departed from the wholesome traditionary of the father, when as a climax to its perpetuity it set up its golden calf and prostrated itself before it; then, gentlemen, his thoughts reverted to the people of his State and his heart rebelled, and so he turned his face towards the rugged mountain of the law, and with patience, zeal and intrepidity wended his way towards the source of truth and righteousness.

"A man of lofty ideals and of great and noble purposes; a shining light among his fellow men; a master of the great questions of political economy the uncompromising champion of a financial system that will bring the greatest good to the greatest number of people; a deliver in the great mines of philosophy; a patient student of nature's mute, inexorable laws.

"In him we recognize the profound thinker, the logical reasoner, the eminent orator; a man who in the Senate of the United States will constantly reflect the wisdom of your choice and crown himself with honor. And now Mr. Speaker and gentlemen for the exalted position of United States Senator I submit to your consideration the name of the Hon. John P. Jones of Storey county."

The following telegram was received from Washington, D. C., Jan. 27th 1897:

Hon. Alex. McCone, President Pro. Tem. of Senate, or Hon. Lem Allen, Speaker of the House:—I have received your joint telegram advising me of my re-election to the U. S. Senate. I am deeply sensible of the distinguished honor conferred on me by the people of my State acting through their legislature in electing me for the fifth consecutive term to the National Senate. I fully recognize the obligation thus imposed to guard to the utmost of my ability the interests of the State, as well as those of the entire country, and especially do all that may lie in my power to advance the great cause of independent free silver coinage by the United States. I beg you to convey to the members of your respective Houses my most sincere and grateful acknowledgement for their confidence and support.

Hearts of Oak.

Another good house was present at the Opera House last evening to witness the performance of pretty drama "Hearts of Oak. It is a play from the pen of the famous actor and playwright James A. Heame and has made more money for managers than any other piece of its class.

Carrie Clark Ward and her company handled the drama in an excellent manner and judging from the applause given it made another hit. Carrie Clark Ward as Crystal carried her part through in a superb manner and her scenes with Terry and Ruby were very effective. Mr. Berch, Mr. Bishop and the entire company deserve special mention for their clever work.

Tonight the comedy drama "Underground" dealing with life in the Pennsylvania coal mines will be given. Matinee for ladies children Saturday at 2 P. M. prices 10 and 20 cents.

Will People Buy a Home Product?

People will buy a home product when it is the best in its line and as cheap as others. The success of the Liniment Trib is an example. Sales are continually increasing in Virginia City, Reno and Carson. A good article well advertised will sell at home as well as abroad.

A Good Revenue Bill.

The passage of the bill yesterday legalizing glove contests will be the biggest State revenue bill ever passed in Nevada. Between now and the time of the big contest Carson will hum in a business way as it never hummed before and we believe that the few people now opposing the measure will see the stimulus given to all classes of business and bow to the situation with good grace.

Governor Sadler being too unwell to attend the banquet on Wednesday evening, Eugene Howell responded to the toast set down on the program for the Governor. The toast was "Nevada" and he made a hot speech for the sagebrush State.

The dead-lock is still on in the Utah Senate.

Henry Heitfelt, a Populist, succeeds Dubois as Senator from Idaho.

The widow of James C. Flood died in San Francisco yesterday.

Six hundred dollars was found in the house lately occupied by Judge Hayton who died in Virginia City a few days ago.

Mr. Wheelock, who has been her for several days representing Dan Stuart, left on last night's train.
